"WE'LL FIGHT AS LONG AS FREE SPEECH EXISTS!"---CARTER

FORMER GOVERNOR CARTER CALLED BEFORE COMMITTEE ON "INSIDIOUS LOBBYING"

Explains Method of Combating The Free Sugar Measure And Makes Good Impression On Investigators

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—Former Governor George R. Carter of Hawaii was today called before the special senate committee investigating President Wilson's charges of "insidious lobbying" against the tariff bill, and examined at great length. He was asked many questions concerning the activities of the men from Hawaii now here representing the sugar interests, and the committee paid particular attention to finding out how the money was raised to send the Hawaiians here and how it has been spent.

Mr. Carter denied that one cent of the money had been spent improperly. He declared that no money had been spent to influence legislation except through the legitimate channels of newspaper advertising, pamphlets published by the Domestic Sugar Producers' Bureau, and like publicity.

Carter's self-possession and his frank statements made a good impression on the investigating committee and Hawaii's fight benefited thereby. Carter explained in detail the conditions under which sugar is produced in Hawaii, telling the committee the facts about cane-growing and the production of raw sugar and furnishing the members with figures. He declared that he had been sent to Washington to represent the people of the island territory, and told the investigators that the protection of the sugar-producing industry is vitally important not only to the sugar-planters of Hawaii, but to thousands of people engaged in the industry and stockholders in the various companies.

S. M. Ballou, attorney for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, followed Carter and spoke along the same lines. Other representatives of Hawaii are expected to take the stand later.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—Former Governor George Carter of Hawaii, before the lobby investigating committee of the senate today, testified that the Hawaiian sugar planters pay Attorney S. M. Ballou $10,000 salary a year to maintain the sugar offices here. Both himself and Ballou, he stated, had interviewed senators in the course of the work for the sugar tariff and had prepared advertisements for the newspapers, but he declared they had done nothing secretly. He said that he himself had tried to see President Wilson but had failed.

"We've spent something less than a hundred thousand dollars in the fight," he said. "We would consider $800,000 well spent if we could save sixty-two millions invested in sugar in our territory. We propose to keep somebody here in Washington fighting for us as long as the right of free speech exists. We consider that we represent the consumers as well as the producers of sugar."

PEACE ESSAY AWARDS MADE BY BOARD OF JUDGES YESTERDAY

The board of judges for the international arbitration and peace essay contest for 1913, which is composed of Judge Sanford B. Dole, Mrs. Walter F. Frear and Wade Warren Thayer, and which was appointed January 1 by the Honolulu chamber of commerce under whose auspices the contest was held, announced the successful competitors at four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The winners are Miss Shirley B. Foster, College of Hawaii, first prize; Miss Bernice D. Smith, College of Hawaii, second prize; Clayton W. Cousens, College of Hawaii, third prize, and Miss M. Ruth Anderson, Oahu College, fourth prize. Those receiving honorable mention are Miss Genevieve Taggard, Oahu College; Elbert G. Tuttle, Oahu College; and Umeichi Kinoshita, Lahainauna school, Lahaina, Maui. The winner of the first prize will be awarded $40; second, $30; third, $20, and fourth, $10.

As will be seen from the list of winners, the College of Hawaii entered three students who capture the first three places. Miss Foster and Miss Smith are members of the freshman class, while Mr. Cousens is a sophomore. The College of Hawaii succeeded in taking both first and third places last year. Miss M. Ruth Anderson, of Oahu College, who was awarded fourth place, is known to be a clever writer, and during her school life at Punahou has been closely connected with the literary department of the Oahuian, the school publication. Miss Anderson graduated from Punahou this month.

The judges found considerable difficulty in reaching a decision for the reason that so many of the essays submitted were of unusual merit.

Besides those to whom the prizes have been awarded and who have been adjudged worthy of honorable mention there were a number of contestants whose essays were also of considerable merit.

Most of those who participated in the competition seem to have devoted a great deal of time, thought and study to their essays, and there was considerable originality of thought and skill of treatment not only in the winning essays but in several of the others. The judges believe that this competition should be maintained as an annual event, as it is an incentive to the students to read and think upon matters outside of the routine of their daily work. Its formal influence upon their minds is bound to be uplifting and broadening.

The fact that there were twenty-four competing essays this year shows that a healthy interest in the subject of international arbitration and peace has already been aroused.

Besides the winners and those receiving honorable mention, the following students entered the contest: Ernest A. Amona, Kamehameha; Ah Ying Soong, Maunaloa Seminary; De Witt Alexander, Oahu College; Sue Kong Ho, McKinley High School; Leslie Hicks, McKinley High School; Harry K. Stewart, Kamehameha; Farrant Turner, Oahu College; M. S. Goo, College of Hawaii; Chang Sing, College of Hawaii; Bonaparte Karatti, Kamehameha; H. E. Starratt, College of Hawaii; M. Lyle Holmes, Oahu College; William Gramberg, McKinley High School; En Sue Yong, College of Hawaii.

AMERICANS WIN IN POLO MATCH

Yankees Defeat English Challengers By Score 5 1-2-3

[Associated Press Cable]

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 10.—Leading at the end of the fourth period, the American poloists gave a remarkable exhibition and finished the first match of the three on the winning end by 5-1-2 goals to 3. In the sixth period Monte Waterbury twice suffered a broken finger and after playing pluckily, was replaced by L. E. Stoddard. The team-work of the Americans was better than that of the British quartet.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 10.—American daring and American skill swept the United States polo team into the lead today when the local cracks met the English challengers for the first game of the international series. At the end of the first four periods the American team led by five goals to three for England. The Americans are playing with Lawrence Waterbury at one, Monte Waterbury two, Harry Payne Whitney at three and Devereaux Milburn back. The game opened with the odds ten to eight, England favorite. A crowd of 25,000 is witnessing the contest. The British team is playing desperately.

SECRETARY LANE WEARY OF THE SCRAMBLE FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Cabinet Member Refuses to Enthuse When Advised That Another 'Possibility' Is in Washington and 'Willing' To Be Inspected — Supporters of Each Candidate Sanguine

By C. S. ALBERT

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—The Hawaiian governorship situation seems to be tied up in a hard knot and laid away in a dark corner of the White House. President Wilson has announced that he will personally supervise the untangling or cutting of this knot. He has further declared it will be done at an early date. He publicly asserted many days ago that a governor for the territory of Hawaii would be named within a brief period.

Nevertheless, the application of the sword to the Gordian knot appears to be suspended. Secretary Lane intimates that he has washed his hands of the entire affair and that his interest ceased when he shipped all the papers in the various cases up to the White House. Although the president cordially received Edward M. Watson, when he was presented by the entire Mississippi delegation in congress, he gave no sign of accepting him as a compromise, leaving Waller and McCandless out in the cold. The matter continues to be one of silence and speculation.

Little interest is being taken in the suggestion of numerous dark horses. Harry Irwin of Hilo has been here for weeks. The local newspapers frequently mentioned him as a possible gubernatorial candidate. But no en-

PRODUCERS' ASSOCIATION PLANS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

Plans for the formation and development of a gigantic interlocking producers' association to cover the entire territory, with the idea of having the producer brought directly in touch with the consumer, is nearing completion under the hands of Dr. E. V. Wilcox, special agent in charge of the Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station.

The original plan, as announced exclusively in the Star-Bulletin a month ago, has been amended and enlarged upon in some points, but substantially, the entire scheme is being carried out and by the first of the month, it was stated by Dr. Wilcox yesterday, the formation of the association will begin, and the producers and consumers of Hawaii will pass into a new era.

CHARLTON IS EXTRADITABLE, SAYS COURT

Murder Case of International Fame Decided by Supreme Justices Against Youth

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, June 10. — The supreme court today handed down a decision in one of the most famous criminal cases in the annals of jurisprudence, the Porter Charlton case. The court decides that Italy may extradite young Charlton, who murdered his wife and threw the body into Lake Como, Italy.

The murder was committed in 1910. Young Charlton's father, law adviser of the bureau of insular affairs and a class mate of President Taft, defended his son against the charge. The son later confessed that he had killed the woman, who was a divorcee eight years older than himself. Meanwhile he had reached the United States. His father took the position that he could not be extradited by Italy for trial, because Italy had refused to allow the United States to extradite criminals from that country. The diplomatic question involved went from court to court until it reached the supreme court. Secretary of State Knox held that under the existing treaty, the boy should be held subject to extradition. The elder Charlton continued the fight, bringing in the question of his son's sanity. The supreme court now decides that Charlton is subject to extradition and he will be taken back to Italy to be tried on the murder charge.

NEWSPAPER ACT IS UPHOLD BY SUPREME COURT

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—The supreme court of the United States today handed down an important decision upholding the constitutionality of the law ordering newspapers and periodicals to publish statements of their circulation, ownership and other information and to mark advertisements all reading notices and paid matter of any kind.

10 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY

Five indictments, charging violation of the federal "white slave" law, were returned by the federal grand jury today. The indictments name these: Albert Machado, the local chauffeur, facing two indictments; G. A. Bower, better known as "Bert" Bower, the baseball umpire, facing two, and Manuel Correa, also a chauffeur, facing one. The charges are the result of the inquiry into the conditions surrounding the Hawaiian dance hall.

Bail in these cases was fixed at $2000 for each defendant. Ten indictments were returned, two of which are still on secret file. Fukuwea Mookini, Charles E. Bond and Gregory Mookini are named in the others, the first on an old statutory charge and the latter two for violation of the post office regulations.

FILIPINOS MUST DIE FOR CRIME

Jury Takes One Ballot and Convicts Men of Killing Chinese Shopkeeper and Wife

Domingo Rodriguez, Hilda Baubista and Miguel Manibbas will pay the extreme penalty for the killing of Lui Ah Ken and Lum Min, the Chinese grocer and his wife, at Kahanui, less than three minutes, and on the first ballot the jury in Judge Robinson's department of the circuit court returned a verdict declaring all three prisoners guilty as charged, of murder in the first degree.

They will be sentenced at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Under the law the court has no alternative and must pronounce the death sentence.

The courtroom was filled by spectators when the jury returned from their brief deliberation and a general inclination to applaud was manifest when the verdict was read aloud by the clerk. The jury retired, after receiving general instructions from the court that left it free to declare any verdict, even to acquittal, at 12:35 p. m. At 12:39 Clerk Harrison notified the court that the verdict had been determined.

As the verdict was read by Clerk Harrison, Manibbas smiled and spoke to Domingo, who smiled in turn. Later, as the Filipino court interpreter translated it to them, Manibbas raised his voice in protest.

"He says he didn't kill anybody," translated the interpreter. "He has nothing to say about that, now," remarked the court.

"I am sorry that Celestino Manolo could not have been included with the other three in that verdict," one of the attorneys defending the prisoners remarked in the court corridor. "At the same time I approve the action of the prosecution in making a bargain with him for the sake of the direct evidence it obtained."

Manolo pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the second degree last week, and is to receive sentence Thursday morning. It is said he will get life imprisonment.

Inside the jury room there was no hesitation when the "twelve good men and true" were called upon to settle the fate of the Filipinos. They elected J. H. Fiddes foreman and immediately took a ballot, the vote being unanimous that the men were "guilty as charged." In order to make sure that every juror was aware of the situation, after the ballot was taken the jurymen discussed briefly the crime and the verdict and then returned to the court room.

When the verdict of "guilty as charged" was read, Attorney George Davis, representing the defendants, raised a technical objection that the verdict did not specify each defendant by name. The jury then retired again and changed the text of the verdict slightly in order to name each of the three Filipinos found guilty of first degree murder.

City and County Attorney Cathcart, who handled the case, is given credit for a masterly marshaling of the forces of the prosecution, while Davis, appointed to represent the defendants, conducted his work admirably, giving the accused men the benefit of impartial counsel.

ANOTHER NAME TO SENATE; ALL HELD UP THERE

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—A. H. Sylva, Jr., of Kahului, Maui, was today nominated by President Wilson for the Kahului postmastership.

C. S. ALBERT.

Sylva was endorsed for the Kahului job recently by the Democratic territorial central committee, the committee's earlier choice, T. B. Lyons, having declined to accept the position. He is manager of the Kahului branch of the Maui Dry Goods Company. The nomination of A. F. Costa for the Wailuku postmastership has already been made and John M. Bright, of Lahaina, is expected to be named next week for the Lahaina postoffice job. He is also the choice of the central committee. The nominations are all held up in the senate together with other of Wilson's appointments pending the settlement of the tariff fight but all are expected eventually to be confirmed.
